

New wall bracket with distance!

In installations when there is a suspended ceiling, it is not always easy to mount one wallmounted Flex service pole. We make it easier, as we have developed a bracket that leaves a distance of 25 mm between wall and service pole. The bottom bracket is replaced with a new bracket that is simply clicked into the service pole. Screws for mounting are included in the kit. The bracket is available in both white and black versions.

Since autumn 2022, our outlet service poles has an aluminum raw material which is made with fossil-free energy.

The production is done in factories powered by solar, wind and hydropower.

This reduced the carbon dioxide emission as much as 40% per kilogram.
